

Outcome IV Undergraduate Rubric

Social and Global Perspective: Articulates a perspective on power in the world and one's own place in the global community

Competency 1. Recognize the contributions of diverse peoples and cultures of the world.

Competency 2. Analyze social issues involving individuals, communities, and/or institutions from different disciplinary perspectives.

	Absent/Minimal 1	2	Present 3	4	Accomplished 5
Recognize the contributions of diverse peoples and cultures to the development of the world	Focuses on one's own social context with little or no awareness of a diverse global perspective.		Recognizes contributions of diverse peoples and cultures of the world		Recognizes contribution of diverse peoples and cultures of the world and places her/his own thinking in the context of that awareness.
Analyze social issues involving individuals, communities, and institutions from different disciplinary perspectives	Little or no analysis of social issues from different disciplinary perspectives		Analyzes social issues involving individuals, communities, and/or institutions from different disciplinary perspectives.		Articulates and supports a complex, interdisciplinary analysis of social issues involving individuals, communities, and/or institutions